this session is corrective legislation, designed to correct and/or improve existing statutes. So there is no reason to think that if this bill is not perfect, if this law is not perfect that it can't be corrected by some future body, whether it be us or somebody else. Now there has been a lot of politics in this legislature also. Obviously there is a political battle here between Senator Warner and Governor Exon, I happen to believe that we should vote on legislation on the merits of the legislation. To those Governors that are sitting in this room now that have been twisting our arms this morning, I'll ask them to recall my vote on 452. I have not voted politically, I have voted for what I thought was right, and I hope that this body would do that this morning. I think that some of the statements on the Governor has made on the advice of our state tax commissioner could possibly be a little misleading. I mean...that...that they are making some statements and there are no figures here to back them up whatsoever. Again, obviously when someone is going to be relieved of some taxes someone else is going to have to pay somemore. If anyone has ever tried to make this sound any differently they are being dishonest, and I certainly have not. Obviously this is the case and those school districts that are now paying a low levy as Senator Whitney prefers to do so often obviously they are not going to get the relief because the bill isn't designed to give the relief. It is a ridiculous that it should, if you are paying zero you can't divide it into two, and that is stretching the point of course. So they can't get the same amount of relief that those districts that are paying a lot. I surely think that 35 people voted for this bill last week and if very many of them turn around it will certainly make some of wonder how strong our convictions are and how we are really voting on legislation, whether we are voting on merital legislation or whether we are voting because of pressure being applied. Now Senator Warner has gone into all of the details of the bill and obviously it would be a waste of time for me to get into that party. He explained it thoroughly and well. I certainly urge this body to override this veto this morning. Thank you.

PRESIDENT: Chair next recognizes Senator Carpenter.

SENATOR CARPENTER: Mr. President, Senator Dickinson said the vote last time was 35 members voting for this bill and 8 opposed of which Senator Whitney was one of the 8. Six not voting. Lets go back to the last time that we had a similar bill in intent at least which I lead the opposition then in order to indefinitely postpone the bill and to whatever extent I had a part in it was successful. The Governor called me into his office and said Carpenter you did a great job. You were the only one that I knew of who would kill this bill. Well the point that I am trying to make is that we can find all kinds of reasons why we don't want to vote for any bill. We look for excuses and not reasons. Obviously there is no bill that we can tax pertaining to state aid to local public schools that is going to please everyone. By the very nature of the hundreds of school districts and the complexity and the vary...a...a... the variation and mil levies and there is no way that you can do it. I don't blame Senator Whitney to try to bring to the area in which he represents which we all have the responsibility the greatest benefit we can. But he wants everybody to reverse himself and to go along with him because of the unfairness and that probably does exist in his area. You can point out unfairness in every law, in every area in which it applies. All I am trying to say is that this is as good as bill in its composites as any legislature has ever written. We a look over all of the other states and almost
